[DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

DATES TO NOVEMBER 15.

The Servant Serves his Master.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 13.—Judge Bartol gave a decision today that the action of Governor Swan in removing the Police Commissioners was legal, and that the order of Judge Bond, of the Criminal Court, for the arrest of the new Commissioners was without authority. Judge Bartol therefore directed the release of Young and Valliant, and declared them empowered to exercise the duties of the office. The new commissioners have called upon the old board to surrender the books and property, and have notified the Mayor to attend their meetings. The Mayor has acknowledged the invitation, and it is not known what course the old board will pursue.

Judge Bartol has issued an order for the discharge of Sheriff Thompson, who was put in jail by order of Judge Bond.

Treasury Matters.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—It is understood that the Secretary of the Treasury will, in his report, ask Congress for legislative power to enforce his views, which look to an immediate rather than a gradual resumption of specie payments. With $400,000,000 in greenbacks afloat, he regards the redemption of $400,000 monthly as entirely inadequate.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—A recent circular from the Treasury Department says the payment of tonnage does not exempt railroad companies from the payment of the per cent. tax on passenger receipts.

Financial—A New Bank Projected.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—The Post's money article says the market is more active. Very little business is doing below six per cent. on call and six per cent. discount.

An effort is on foot to establish a bank with a half million dollars, as a gold clearing house, the object being to facilitate the business of brokers and to do away with the delivery system. The project meets with favor in the gold room, and already $50,000 have been subscribed.

News from Japan.

The navy department has received a despatch from Admiral Bell, dated Yedo Bay, August 31st. Gen. Van Valkenburg had reached Yedo with a guard of honor, consisting of all the marines of the squadron. There were thirteen armed vessels of various nations in Japanese waters.

Admiral Bell communicated the particulars of his cooperations with the British commander. Twenty-two junks, carrying 98 guns, had been destroyed, and about 90 pirates killed.

Tennessee Legislature.

NASHVILLE, Nov. 13.—A quorum was obtained in the House to-day. New members were sworn in. A quorum is expected in the Senate to-morrow.

New York Central Railroad.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—It is believed the express interest has secured sufficient stock to control the election of Directors of the New York Central Railroad, and that William G. Fargo, of Buffalo, will be President. The transfer of stock has closed, but the rival citizens continue buying.

Grain and Flour Market.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—Wheat, a shade firmer, but inactive.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—The Express contains the prices of breadstuffs during the past six years, by which it appears that flour is 42 per cent. higher now than it was when gold was higher.

The receipts of flour at New York was 213,000 barrels against 650,000 barrels last year, and 920,000 two years ago. The receipts of wheat are less than 4,000,000 bushels against 7,000,000 last year and 13,000,000 ten years ago. The Express warns the grain bidders to look out and stand from under.

Railroad Accident.

CLEVELAND, Nov. 14.—The westward bound express train ran off the track near Erie, owing to the carelessness of repairers in not securely replacing the rail. Four persons were killed and 32 wounded.

Meeting of the Alabama Legislature.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—The Alabama Legislature met on Tuesday, 13th.

Gov. Patton's message represents the finances to be in good condition; he opposes the Constitutional amendments.

Confederation of the Canadas.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—J. McDonald and 20 other members of the Canadian Cabinet arrived to-day, en route for London, to confer with the Government on the Confederation of the Provinces.

Walter, the principal proprietor of the London Times, now visiting in this country, has written to the chief editor, disapproving the course of that journal on American affairs.

Thanksgiving Proclamation.

CHICAGO, Nov. 13.—The Governors of nearly all the States have designated the 29th of November for Thanksgiving, in accordance with the President's proclamation.

Southern Politicians in Washington.

A Washington dispatch says the Mississippi committee did not obtain an interview with the President yesterday. There is quite a large number of Southern men in Washington, including Gen. Dick Taylor and Kirby Smith.

Rebels Finally to be Conciliated.

There seems to be a general belief among them that the President will shortly issue a universal amnesty proclamation, including Jeff Davis.

Article of Impeachment Preparing.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—A Washington special says it is reported that Hon. J. A. Bingham, who is preparing an article of impeachment against Johnson, will charge him with aiding and abetting the assassination of Lincoln.

Benj. F. Wade an Impecunious Copper-Johnson.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—The name of Benjamin F. Wade is being canvassed for President of the Senate.

The Sheriff has levied on President Johnson's political organ in Washington, for arrears of rent.

The Fenian Trials.

The Fenian trials began at Toronto to-day. Prisoner Thomas School was convicted and sentenced to be hanged on the 13th of December. Patrick Donahue was discharged by the Judge without having a trial.

The case of the Banker Smith against the Secretary of War, has gone through all the pleadings, and is now ready to go to the jury. It is understood to be a test, and great interest is felt in the result.

Gold Discoveries in Canada.

BELLEVILLE, C. W., Nov. 15.—There is considerable excitement here about rumors of gold discoveries in Madoc. A large number of people are arriving here, and those returning bring many specimens of the precious metal.

Gerritt Smith Pleads for the Rebels.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—Gerritt Smith is out in a long letter to Judge Lewis, on the condition of the country, in which he takes the ground that our duty to the South does not involve its punishment.

Gen. Grant Revokes Important Orders.

The Post says that Gen. Grant has revoked the orders, Nos. 3 and 44, which he issued for the purpose of protection to the Union people at the South, by military power. The revoke is made on the grounds that the President's order, subsequently issued, nullified the former order. Gen. Grant tells his friends he still believes in the necessity of such orders, but submits to his superior, who takes the responsibility.

The Situation in Mexico.

BROWNSVILLE, Texas, Nov. 8.—Ortega and suite arrived at Brazos, October 3d, but were arrested by the military authorities, and afterwards permitted to return to Brazos. A protest from Ortega and the members of the suit, appears in the Rio Grande Courier this morning. The General first points to the provision of the Constitution, by which he claims to be recognized in his proper political character as President of the Mexican Republic. He then recites the acts accompanying and instituting his arrest, and protests first against the violation of individual guarantees given by the laws of the country to foreigners traveling therein; second, in the name of and as President of the Mexican Republic, he protests against the arrest as constituting interference by the armed force of the United States in the solution of local Mexican questions; third, against any act, direct or indirect, through attempts to impose upon the people of Mexico the fractional Government.

MATAMORAS, Nov. 6.—Caravajal still holds the city.

On the afternoon of the 2d, a courier arrived from Juarez, bringing peremptory orders for the surrender of the city, and after holding a counsel of his officers, Caravajal offered to surrender on the formal condition that the troops are to pass beyond the State of Tamaulipas; all accounts of the administration to be declared valid, and not one to be prosecuted for political acts since the 12th of August; Caravajal should remain in command of the troops. These conditions Lopez said were unworthy of notice, and also said he would attack the place as early as possible. Caravajal continued to exact money from the people.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—The Herald's City of Mexico correspondence says that Maximilian's abdication was unknown until he was almost ready to start. Marshal Bazaine was busy making contracts for the army for a length of time, which does not look like a speedy departure.

Gen. Sheridan is known to be on the Rio Grande frontier, and the reported arrest of Ortega is not doubted here, although no official advices have been received.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—Late correspondence from the city of Mexico is as follows: A few leagues from the city, while on his way to Orizaba, Maximilian met the captain of the Austrian frigate which was lying at Vera Cruz. His Majesty permitted him to continue his journey to the capital, to remain only one day and return directly to Vera Cruz, as Maximilian intended to embark with him. Before quitting Chapultepec all at the Castle were paid off and discharged. The baggage and personal property of his Majesty were packed and some of it dispatched to Vera Cruz. The horses and carriages were disposed of; but all this was so quietly done, although the facts became known, still no one supposed Maximilian intended to quit the Empire. Even the Princess Iturbide, who has charge of the young Prince Iturbide, and who has an apartment at the Palace, was not informed of the intended departure until the day before it took place. Having perfected his arrangements, the Emperor sent for Bazaine, and gave him a verbal appointment as regent, and the ministry were notified of the fact, and were ordered to report to the Council with him as regent ad interim. Notification came like a thunder clap on the cabinet, which at once repaired to Chapultepec to protest against it, but were refused an audience or any explanations, when they unanimously resigned. Bazaine smoothed matters over with them, inducing them to retain their positions for the present. At 6 o'clock, on the morning of the 20th, attended by his escort, Maximilian passed out of the Castle, and bade adieu to the cares and anxieties which he had experienced. On Friday it became known that the Emperor intended going to Orizaba, and the forces near San Luis Potosi of the Liberals, dispatched messengers to notify the Liberal General of the royal journey, and detailing a plan for his capture.

A detachment of two thousand five hundred strong, with a battery of light artillery were to be sent with all speed to intercept the Emperor between Puebla and the pass Del Wacho. The Emperor was escorted by only 400 cavalry, but the scheme came to naught as the Mexicans had too far to march.

Castelnau figures but little in Mexican business, as Bazaine gives him to understand that a French Field Marshal outranks him. He is simply aid-de-camp, and is treated accordingly.

Appearances indicate that Bazaine contemplates a long stay, as he is engaged in making contracts for army supplies more than is necessary for the troops until next June.

OUR SAN FRANCISCO DISPATCH.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 14.—The eastern line is still out of order beyond Omaha.

On the trial of the suit of D. O. McCarthy vs. O. M. Clayes, Judge Tyler, council for the plaintiffs, in his opening, said that he expected to prove that plaintiff actually sold to defendant the American Flag newspaper with all its appurtenances for $20,000; that Clayes had made a payment on account of such purchase and had exercised a right of ownership. Subsequent to that the Flag, by its influence, had about the time of said purchase bursted up the telegraph monopoly, and prevented for the time being the further imposition on the public of the Associated Press; that Clayes was acting in confederation with others to prevent the Flag from reaping these benefits of its enterprise, and his offers to purchase were only made for the purpose of preventing the Flag from getting the dispatches and for throwing obstructions in the way of its success; that Clayes after such purchase caused it to be published that he would merge the Flag in the Stockton Independent and publish the latter in San Francisco as the San Francisco Daily and Weekly Independent, which publication damaged the business of the Flag to a great extent. For these and other injuries the plaintiff demanded $20,000 damages.

Mr. Wilson for the defense, stated in reply that the pleadings did not set up any of the allegations made by counsel which, if pleaded, could only be urged in the matter of damages. The action was simply an alleged failure to recover property alleged to have been sold. He would not comment on the other statements made by Judge Tyler, but apprehended that the telegraph was humbugging, and everything of the kind would be excluded from the case. Charles McC. Delaney, one of the counsel for defendants, then took the stand at the request of plaintiff, and testified to having drafted certain papers for the purchase of the Flag newspaper for $28,000, and said he gave the documents to Clayes. The defendant was then called to the stand by plaintiff, and stated that he had probably destroyed the contract, but was not certain.

Considerable sparring then ensued in laying the foundation for the introduction of a letter written by Clayes, from Stockton, to Fred McCrellish, in this city, when the jury were discharged, the Judge ruling that the complaint was insufficient.

The Jefferson Mineral, Mining and Milling Company have removed their office from Marysville to this city, and filed their certificate of removal with the county clerk.

MONDAY MORNING, NOV. 19, 1866.

One Result of the War.

As often as elections were held in the days of Democratic and Southern domination, the nerves of all timid people at the North were violently shaken by the fearful declaration of the chivalry that if their candidates were not chosen, they would at once dissolve the Union. In every part of the North this menace was repeated by Democratic flunkies who did the bidding of their political masters of the South. Again and again those who threatened this direful consequence were propitiated by the required concessions. Again and again the chivalry were induced, by granting them the victory, to forego or delay their purpose of dissolving the Union. And as often as a general election came round was the calamity threatened anew, or its alternative offered. In this way the timorous ones at the North were kept in continual alarm. The dissolution of the Union was held over their heads in terrorem, and the gentlemen who modestly claimed that they were born to rule, had it all their own way. For many years their threats were potent, but at length intimidation would serve its purpose no longer. The Northern people ventured to disobey the mandates of the "ruling race." Their self-appointed masters instantly flew into a passion—enraged beyond all power of expression because those whom they had supposed to be their vassals had dared to revolt from their authority. Their newspapers declared that the action of the Northern people in voting for a President whom the chivalry regarded with contempt and abhorrence, was nothing less than the rebellion of a whole class of serfs from their rightful political masters. And as the "ruling race" had threatened in this contingency to smash the Union into fragments, they would be as good as their word. So the long-promised play began. The chivalry, after an animated dance of more than four years, suddenly awoke to a knowledge of the fact that the play, excellent an entertainment as it had promised to be, was an entire failure, and that they, the original managers, still had the piper to pay. But paying the piper was not the only consequence. The frightful threat wherewith they were wont to paralyze the Northern mind with terror, had lost its significance. No more shall we hear from that quarter the once alarming declaration that if the Southern candidates are not elected the Union shall be dissolved. That argument is at an end. That terror is past. That lion is out of the way. That monster is dead. Never again will the Northern doughfaces, with shaking knees and blanching lips, give the terrible warning and beseech the Northern men for the love of their country, for the love of their liberty, for the love of their posterity, not to vote so as to offend the South and drive her to the execution of her threat. We are rid forever of this mighty, frightful incubus. This is not the least among the results of the war. While the issue between the North and the South, which has just been decided by the elections, was pending, the old threat was never once breathed by the Northern Democracy. Thus that party has lost one of the most powerful weapons. It can no longer frighten the people after the old fashion. They are not to be scared with the noise of gongs or the din of tom-toms.

Who will deny that the war has produced at least one most excellent result?

Chance to Pay the Rebel Debt.

From late announcements in the English papers it appears that parties on the farther side of the Atlantic are buying up the cotton bonds of the late "Confederate States of America." These purchases have been made to a considerable extent by Americans whose faith in the success of Johnson's policy has led them to believe that to take stock in the rebel debt would be a profitable investment. A correspondent of the London Post makes the following comment on these transactions:

> Possibly when our keen cousins have obtained a sufficient amount, the iniquity of repudiating a loan made by foreigners on the special hypothecation of cotton, will be vehemently asserted by the Yankees themselves, as detrimental to American credit, and the bondholders will obtain their rights; the more especially as every man in the South, as stated by General Lee in his evidence before the Committee of Congress, is desirous of recognising and paying this loan.

Of course then, when the repudiation of this debt comes to be regarded as "detrimental to American credit," the General Government will be asked to pay over the trifling sum that was expended in the effort to blot it out of existence. But this correspondent is not done yet. He goes on to argue:

> President Johnson describes the existing Radical Legislature, which has usurped the power of Congress, "as a body called, or which assumed to be, the Congress of the United States, but which is in fact a Congress of only part of those States." Now, if this is the true definition of the present Congress, I have no hesitation in saying that until the Southern States are restored to Congress, and recognize in Congress the debts that Congress, during their exclusion, has contracted, the Five-Twenty bonds, and all other debts raised by that Congress, are illegal, according to the Constitution of the United States.

If the premises laid down by the President be correct, there is no escaping the conclusion at which this writer arrives. If the present Congress is not a legal legislative body—and the President has repeatedly asserted that it is not—all former Congresses since 1860 have also been illegal, the laws under which the national debt was created have never had any validity, and the debt itself may be repudiated at any time, as it has not the sanction of law. To such monstrous results do the principles advocated by the President and his supporters infallibly lead. The Constitutional Amendment will settle these questions in favor of loyalty and right.

Hon. Columbus Delano, who represents the 13th Ohio District in Congress was a candidate for re-election last month and was defeated. This is the only instance we have heard of where a Northern Union Representative who was a candidate for re-election, has met with defeat before the people. Mr. Delano's defeat may serve as a warning to weak-kneed politicians. When the breach occurred between the President and Congress he faltered in the faith, and gave a partial support "my policy." He afterwards undertook to atone for his mistake, but many of his old friends were alienated, and when he became a candidate again, refused to support him. A consistent Radical could have been elected with all ease. Mr. Delano's defeat affords conclusive proof of the radical spirit of the North. He and others may profit by the lesson.

A copperhead paper says the Union majority in Maine has been whittled down to less than 28,000. Yes, and the Union majority in Massachusetts has been "whittled down" to 75,000, and in Illinois to 50,000. He must be a hopeful Democratic editor who can feel cheerful over such results and express his satisfaction that the Union majority in each State is only several tens of thousands.

JUVENILE DEPRAVITY.—Three boys belonging to Grass Valley, Nevada county, California, the oldest ten, and the youngest but eight years old, recently stole three horses and took them to Illinoistown where they tried to sell them, but failing to do so, set out for Colfax, and were arrested on the road by officers, returned to Grass Valley and lodged in jail. Very good start for infants.

A man was found dead in his cabin in Trinity county, California, a short time ago. He had been dead two weeks when found.

The San Francisco Mint coined $2,312,000 in gold and silver during the month of October.

STATE ITEMS.

The Corvallis Gazette has just closed its 3d volume.

Company E, 8th U. S. Cavalry, has gone to Fort Lapwai.

Capt. White's company of Oregon Cavalry is now at Ft Vancouver, for muster-out.

The indebtedness of Wasco county, June 30, 1866, was $10,120 26, as shown by exhibit.

Company D, 8th U. S. Cavalry, commanded by Lieut. Converse, is ordered to garrison Ft Walla Walla, and will start for that post Wednesday, the 21st.

We learn that Superintendent Huntington is on his way home and may be looked for here in ten days or two weeks.

James R. Boyd, who lived a short distance from Smithfield, Lane county, committed suicide on the 9th inst., by hanging himself to the limb of a tree.

In the circuit court for Benton county, sitting last week, a man named Kiger, pleaded guilty to an indictment for adultery, and was fined $300 and costs.

The Sentinel urges the people of Southern Oregon to engage in the culture of Sorghum, as a crop to which the soil and climate of that part of the State, are peculiarly adapted.

O. E. Chappell, of Jackson county, has discovered an old channel of Applegate creek, about half a mile distant from the present one. The prospects obtained from it are very rich. One piece weighed eleven dollars.

The man Sherman, who was some time ago severely injured by a grizzly bear at Willow Springs, after recovering, went after his adversary a few days ago, and succeeded in killing him. He was a huge grizzly, weighing nearly twelve hundred pounds.

Company F, 8th U. S. Cavalry, left Ft Vancouver last Tuesday for Camp Watson. This company will increase Col. Baker's force to one hundred and seventy men. As commandant at Camp Watson, Col. Baker will probably have the Indian scouts, now awaiting their arms and outfit, and intended for service in that part of the State.

Postmaster Kelley of this city, says the Oregon City Enterprise, has received instructions from Washington to ascertain from the most authentic sources within his reach, the length of the route from Oregon City via Cutting's Mill, Glad Tidings, Silverton, Sublimity and Scio, to Lebanon, to be used in preparing the advertisement inviting proposals for mail service on it, and locating it upon the maps of the department. This route was established by Congress, approved July 13th, 1866, and we are very greatly pleased to announce the fact that it will soon be in operation.

The Occidental Quartz Mill Company, says the Sentinel, have got their fine mill running, and have made one run, crushing one hundred tons in four days. The mill runs two batteries of five stamps each, making ten stamps in all. The company say they can crush quartz for one and a half dollars per ton. The first run was made on quartz from the Davenport ledge, and paid a fraction over four dollars to the ton. We visited the ledge this week, and the rock bears strong traces of silver, which is becoming more apparent at each foot. The gold obtained from this ledge is very fine. Some which we saw was as fine as flour. The greater portion of gold is caught in the batteries, some on the copper plates and the balance in the amalgamating pans. No gold has as yet been found outside the pans.

FROM WASHINGTON TERRITORY.

We obtain the following from the Vancouver Register of the 17th:

HOUSE BLOWN DOWN.

During the high wind which prevailed yesterday the fine new house in course of erection by Mr. C. C. Stiles was lifted from its foundation, blown down, and utterly destroyed. Mr. Stiles had expended about $2,000 on the house, and it would, when completed, have been the finest house in Vancouver. Mr. Stiles was burnt out in the late fire and the loss of his new house is indeed hard on him. He deserves the assistance of our citizens.

CITY IMPROVEMENT.

At the last meeting of the Common Council, a resolution was introduced, appropriating $107 for filling up the ravine or hollow on Maine street.

DROWNED.

A man of the name of Gillette was drowned on Thursday last in attempting to ford the Washougal (which owing to the recent rains is much swollen) in a two-horse wagon. The horses also were drowned, but the wagon and harness were saved. The body was carried down stream and has not yet been recovered.

The Register's editorial correspondence from Steilacoom, November 10th, has the following:

CONVICTS AT STEILACOOM.

There are seven convicts now confined in Steilacoom, two for murder, three for larceny, one for forgery, and one for assault with intent to kill. One of the murderers is Wm. Powell, who killed his wife in a drunken fit near Seattle some time ago. He is sentenced to be hung on the 21st of December next. He seems to be terribly frightened at his approaching doom. He makes wild and incoherent protestations of innocence, very frequently refuses to eat and pretends that his prison cell is haunted by the ghost of his dead wife. We learn that his counsel, Hon. O. B. McFadden, will take the case to the Supreme Court.

TROOPS FOR FT. STEILACOOM.

Capt. Reno with a company of the 2d Artillery arrived here yesterday morning from Fort Humboldt and has taken command of the post. Capt. Graves with his detachment will return to San Juan Island.

NEW VESSELS FOR THE COD-FISHERIES.

Capt. Williamson, a ship builder, is building a fine schooner of some 150 tons burthen at Steilacoom, which is intended for the cod fisheries on the coast of the Russian Possessions. These fisheries have attracted a great deal of attention lately on the Sound. One small vessel during the last season brought to the San Francisco market a cargo of cod-fish, valued at $11,000, which of course yielded a large profit to those engaged in the enterprise.

SURVEYING THE SOUND.

The brig Fauntleroy under the command of Capt. Winsor is now engaged below Steilacoom in surveying the shores of the Sound under the direction of the U. S. Coast Survey. The scientific corps of this expedition is under the command of Capt. Lawson, long and favorably known.

CONFLICT OF CIVIL AND MILITARY AUTHORITY.

Sheriff Judson of Pierce county the other day arrested Capt. Graves, U. S. A., formerly stationed upon San Juan Island under a bench warrant ordered issued by Judge Darwin. The captain gave bonds for $1,000 for his appearance at the next District Court at Port Townsend. It seems that the Grand Jury at Port Townsend had indicted Capt. Graves for malicious trespass in cutting down and removing a fence belonging to a man named Higgins, who had formerly lived upon San Juan Island, but was afterwards expelled by order of Capt. Gray. Capt. Graves acted under military orders when committing the act for which he stands indicted. We have always understood and believe now that the civil authorities of Washington Territory have no right to extend their jurisdiction over the Island of San Juan. The Island is jointly occupied by British and American troops and is exclusively under military law. We understand Gen. Scott gave an order which is not countermanded, instructing the American commander to allow no interferences by the civil authorities of the Territory, and we shouldn't wonder if Judge Darwin had put his foot in it. There is no doubt but that Capt. Graves will obey the civil process in order to act honorably towards his bondsmen; but if the Territorial prosecutor presses the charge and forces a trial, it may become a question that will have to be solved by other means than a mere trial by jury.

GIVES IT UP.—It appears that Gov. Seymour, of New York, has changed his political opinions. He is now of opinion that new ideas must prevail. The St. Paul Press has the following in relation to him:

> He made no secret of his opinion while here, that no Democrat can subscribe to the Philadelphia platform without stultification, or without convicting himself of treason and disloyalty in all his past course. Still less did he make any secret of his conviction that the Republican party were bound to prevail by an immense majority in New York and every Northern State. Moreover, Governor Seymour declared, in the presence of several prominent gentlemen in this city, that the most prominent and influential statesmen of the South were in favor of negro suffrage, and be himself was in favor of it. He further stated that he was in favor of the Constitutional Amendment as a basis of restoration. This fact was stated publicly by Heard in his recent speech. Upon what grounds Governor Seymour places his present advocacy of negro suffrage we do not know; but the fact stated by him, that the best men of the South were rapidly coming over to the Republican policy of reconstruction, is very significant. From the general tendency of Governor Seymour's conversation in this city, it was inferred to be his present conviction that the mission of the Democratic party had ended with the twin heresies upon which it was founded—slavery and secession; that new ideas were now to prevail, and that there was no use in trying to kick against the pricks.

At the recent elections, there were re-nominated by the Union party, in Pennsylvania, 13 members of the present Congress; in Ohio, 15; in Indiana, 5. In most of the States, the ratio was nearly the same. These re-nominations, and in nearly every case, re-election, constitute a popular endorsement by the people that was never accorded to any Congress since the organization of the Government.

The late elections have rendered it certain that twenty-three States will ratify the pending constitutional amendments. This will comprise all the non-seceding States except Maryland, Delaware and Kentucky, and will include Tennessee.

THE ELECTION IN NEVADA.—Concerning the result in Nevada, the Enterprise of November 8th says:

> In our reference yesterday to the result of the election in this county, with partial returns before us, we modestly accorded considerable more to the Copperheads than the complete returns show that they were entitled to. Every Union candidate on the State ticket is elected by a very gratifying majority—the average for the whole ticket being about 200. With little more than 3,200 votes cast, 200 majority is quite satisfactory for Storey county. The entire Union State ticket is elected, including Congressman, by handsome majorities. With a single exception (Assessor) every candidate on the Union county ticket has been elected, and every township nominee as well, with the exception of a Constable in the First District of Virginia. Pat. Lannan, who can claim the distinction of being one of the two Democratic candidates elected in the county, owes his success to Union votes. He was considerably scratched by his own party, and was assisted to the office by Union men through personal considerations. Kruttschnitt, the only Democratic county candidate elected, also owes his success to Union votes and to strong personal efforts made against his opponent. Upon this glorious triumph, State and county, we congratulate the Union party of Storey. Although some dissatisfaction existed in the party, purely of a personal nature, before the election, it was nobly sacrificed at the polls, to a great extent, and a sweeping Union triumph has been the gratifying result. The Union party has done its duty, and Congress stands sustained and the President rebuked by the popular voice and will of Nevada. To the loyal States of the East Nevada sends greeting—"Congress and the Constitutional Amendment."

NEVER DESPOND.—A trial of Newell's Pulmonary Syrup will convince the most sceptical that it is unequaled by any known preparation, as a remedy for Asthma, Bronchitis, Colds, Coughs, Croup, Pain in the Chest, Spitting of Blood, and other affections of the Chest, which, if left to run their course, end in consumption. Use this valuable remedy and be relieved.

THE GALAXY.—ELLSWORTH & CARDWELL, 83 First street, have the largest collection of notable pictures in Oregon. This firm are executing, daily, those exquisite SUN PEARLS, splendid CARTES DE VISITE or ALBUM PICTURES, etc., etc. At this GALLERY may be seen some of the restored artistic beauty found in the ruined palaces of the Incas.

LIFE INSURANCE.—Within the last few weeks a large number of our citizens have availed themselves of the benefit of a Life Insurance, which certainly is very praiseworthy, but one of those heavy BEAVER SUITS, for sale at the ST. LOUIS CLOTHING STORE, will prolong Life and do away with the necessity of a Life Policy.

[illegible].—It will be remembered that John Mack [illegible] in Police Court, before Judge Hoffman, on the [illegible] upon the charge of having robbed Mrs. [illegible] of the sum of $560. Although there was no positive [illegible] the circumstances formed a strong case against him, and he was held for trial. Lambert's case appeared before the Grand Jury on last Thursday, and he was discharged, they having failed to find a true bill against him. Although when in the police court Lambert was without the means to pay the lawyer for his defence, the evening after he was discharged he had "plenty" [illegible] and on last Saturday evening he became intoxicated. He had been under the surveillance of police [illegible] since his discharge. The police had good reason to believe him guilty, and rightly conjectured that after his release he would let the matter out in unguarded [illegible]. On the evening in question he went into a [illegible] and said that a man was following him for the purpose of robbing him. He asked the saloon keeper for a pistol, and by depositing its value, procured it. He then went off to another saloon, where he engaged in a "poker game," in which he lost some money. Officer Brennan got track of his proceedings and followed him [illegible] him at a house of ill-fame situated on Second street, kept by a negro woman. He was searched and a portion of the money was found in one of his boots. He then came out and acknowledged the theft, and offered to give the officer the money if they would let him go. He also stated that he had divided the money with two others, and that his share of the money was $170. He stated that Henry Swift, who was one of the witnesses during the examination, was one of his accomplices. Swift was arrested also, and lodged in jail. On Saturday the prosecuting attorney made a new presentment, upon which he will appear before the Grand Jury. To officer Brennan much praise is due for his sagacity and energy in this matter. It seems unaccountable that the Grand Jury should have made so great a blunder as to turn this thief loose upon [illegible] community. If the Grand Jury had the same evidence before them as was heard in the court below—and we [illegible] it did—there was sufficient ground for an indictment. In general, it is, perhaps, well to require a pretty strong case to be made before presenting a person charged with crime, for trial. But in a city like this, where there are so many rogues, with crafty confederates to aid them in escaping from justice, there can be little safety to rights of property, if strong circumstantial evidence be ignored, as seems to have been done in this case.

[illegible] COURT.—In Recorder's Court before Judge [illegible], on last Saturday appeared —— Sykes, upon the charge of selling liquor without having obtained licence for the same. He was fined 50 and costs......Mary A. [illegible], charged with having used profane and obscene [illegible] in a house on Second street. It seems that she was the woman at whose house Mack was arrested, and that some neighbors of the same ilk after the arrest was made, took occasion to taunt her with the fact of a thief being found in her house. She became angry and [illegible] her opinions in language neither chaste nor elegant. Her neighbor then complained against her. She was fined $5 and costs......The Chinamen Ah Wong, [illegible], and Ah Kung were arraigned upon two charges each; one for disorderly conduct and for carrying concealed weapons. They were found guilty, and each fined $10 and costs for carrying concealed weapons, and for disorderly conduct $5 and costs.

NEW GEOGRAPHIES.—We acknowledge the receipt from [illegible], bookseller, of a new edition of McNally's [illegible] for schools and academies. This edition contains the very latest corrections, and its maps are the only ones we have seen in connection with any school Geography which gives a correct view of the late changes which have been made in the boundaries of the [illegible] Territories. This Geography is now in almost universal use in our schools. We also acknowledge the receipt of Monteith's Physical Geography for schools. The book is divided into two parts—the first of which treats of "Geography as a Science," and the second of "Local and Civil Geography." The whole is arranged in a most attractive form for the learner, and cannot fail to make the subject interesting to the youthful mind.

[illegible] CASE.—In District Court before Judge Deady, in the case of United States against William Wilson upon an [illegible] for uttering forged checks. In pursuance of the verdict of guilty rendered by the jury on Thursday [illegible] the prisoner was on Saturday morning brought into Court for judgment and sentence. The prisoner was sentenced to two years' imprisonment with hard labor in the penitentiary. The prisoner had been [illegible] to the mercy of the Court by the jury. It seems that the prisoner was the dupe of one who is, in fact, more guilty than he, and who, we hope, will yet fall [illegible] within the strong grasp of the law.

CIRCUIT COURT SHATTUCK JUDGE.—Proceedings in Circuit Court, Saturday, Nov. 17th: In the case of the people vs. Louis Andrews, indicted June 1866, for assault [illegible] to kill, the jury brought in a verdict of guilty [illegible] to imprisonment at hard labor in the Penitentiary for two years......In the case of N. Northrup vs. J. F. Ankeny, verdict of jury in favor of plaintiff for the [illegible]; motion filed for new trial. In the case of [illegible] King vs. Moffett & Meir, most of the day was occupied in the examination of witnesses.

[illegible].—Several of our prominent citizens took [illegible] by the Oriflamme on Saturday, for the [illegible] States, among whom were Hon. H. W. Corbett, [illegible] elect, Henry Failing, late Mayor, P. Bradford, who goes on business connected with the "Portland [illegible]," and several others. All of them, we believe, contemplate a visit of several months, and Senator Corbett will probably remain till the close of the Executive session of the Senate after the 4th of March next.

[illegible] ROAD.—At a meeting of the citizens of Lewiston and vicinity, held on the 5th inst., a Committee was appointed for the purpose of raising money to be used [illegible] a road from Lewiston to Washington District, the new quartz district situated near Warren's diggings. The committee was instructed to visit Portland for the purpose of conferring with the O. S. N. Co., and the citizens of this and other places interested in the development of [illegible] quartz interests.

[illegible].—We learn that fifteen Indians left the [illegible] Messrs. Copeland and Welles are now in this city in search of the runaways. They caught [illegible] of the Indians at McMinnville and lodged them in the Lafayette jail. The others came on to this city and have probably gone up the Columbia river to the Cascades. It is now potato-digging time, and poor "Lo" [illegible] to injure his constitution by work, so they have left until the potatoes are dug.

WILD CAT.—We were shown at the store of Mr. C. [illegible] a very large wild cat that had been captured a few miles [illegible] of this city. Tommy had been for some [illegible] engaged in extensive operations in the poultry [illegible], and his capture caused great rejoicing in the district that had suffered from his foraging abilities. His mate was shot a short time previous. There yet remains one of the same family at liberty.

THE ROADS.—The roads south have become already very deep, and the Concord coaches have been laid up for the winter, on this end of the route, at least, and [illegible] "wagons" substituted. The road is about as hard to travel as the famed one "over Jordan" and nothing but the most determined enterprise keeps the [illegible] up to time.

[illegible] STEAMER.—The P. T. Co's steamer, [illegible], after lying idle for several months at her wharf at [illegible], has been put up for regular trips on the upper Willamette. The other first-class steamers, both above and below the falls, will be started in a few days. They have all been refitted in such manner as to [illegible] greatest possible comfort to travelers.

[illegible] day morning a large party left this city on [illegible] for a hunting excursion down the Columbia river. The steamer was chartered for the trip, and the party will be absent four or five days. We predict for our Portland Nimrods good sport and plenty of game.

RISE.—The late rains have had a decided effect on the [illegible] river, which has risen several feet within the last two or three days. The water is now within about [illegible] feet of the O. S. N. Co.'s wharf, and is still rising.

[illegible].—Dr. Hoffman, who has for several years been [illegible] in the practice of his profession in this city, is about removing to the Dalles. The Doctor leaves [illegible] in this city, and will no doubt be warmly received at his new home.

FIRE.—On last Saturday at 2 o'clock P. M. the fire alarm was rung and the engines turned out at a lively pace. The alarm was occasioned by the burning out of [illegible] at the corner of Alder and Second street.

REAL ESTATE.—Let all remember the valuable real estate to be sold this morning at the Court House by Oscar [illegible] lots in block 9—a portion of the Wood-[illegible].

[illegible].—This popular and well established firm [illegible] their large stock of dry goods and clothing at cost in order to close business. Give them a call.

TREASURE.—The messenger of Wells, Fargo & Co. brought Saturday evening from the North $60,000 in treasure.

[illegible].—The offices of the U. S. Collector and Assessor [illegible] removed to their new room upstairs in Carter's building, entrance from Alder street.

If you wish to make yourself pleasant to others show [illegible], and if you wish to buy a good suit of clothing, go to Berman Brothers.

[illegible], 127 Front street, has a splendid stock of ladies and children's furnishing goods. Ladies will read his advertisement with profit.

Pioneer Base Ball Club.—Regular semi-monthly meeting this (Monday) evening, at 7 o'clock. Every member of the Club is requested to be present, as they [illegible] to settle up all matters of business, preparatory to adjourning for the season of 1866. By order.

What Experienced Mill Men think of the Portable Steam Saw Mills built by the Oregon Iron Works.

PORTLAND, Oct. 18th, 1866.

To the OREGON IRON WORKS:

Gentlemen:—The Portable Steam Saw Mill which we purchased of you last spring for Pen d'Oreille Lake, has been in operation during the past season, and has more than met our expectations in its performance. With three men, we turn out from three to four thousand feet, and with five men, five thousand feet per day of ten hours, and we take pleasure in recommending these mills as the most SUBSTANTIAL, DESIRABLE AND PERFECT MILLS IN USE, and especially adapted to the wants of this country, on account of their compact form, ease of transportation and the facility with which they can be set up and put in operation. Although subjected to the most severe tests, no repairs have been required.

STEAM POWER, NOS. 625 AND 627 FRONT ST.

HAS CONSTANTLY ON HAND GROUND AND ROASTED COFFEE, GREEN COFFEE of the best qualities. CREAM OF TARTAR and SPICES of all sorts.

The undersigned, who has always enjoyed public confidence for the excellent quality of his Coffee, neglects nothing to justify the good name acquired by his productions, the sale of which daily increases. The acknowledged superiority of his merchandise, which commands here, and in the markets of the Interior, a relatively higher price, excites the cupidity of some manufacturers, and every day he sees increasing the number of those who, by counterfeit or imitation of his mark, seek to deceive the public, palming upon them their inferior productions for the genuine G. VENARD CHARTRES COFFEE. This fraud can deceive nobody after a trial, but only adds to the favorable opinion of the consumers, the very flattering though unwilling testimony of the counterfeiters. Nevertheless, buyers should be forewarned, and placed on their guard against this practice.

The Medina Tragedy

A WOMAN KILLS HER CHILDREN AND DESTROYS HERSELF

Following are the particulars of the late dreadful tragedy in Michigan

ADRIAN, Michigan, October 7th

Mrs Simms, who on Wednesday killed her four children and then herself was 32 or 33 years of age She was the only child of Horace Garlick, an old and respected citizen of this county and one of the pioneers of this section of country There seems to have been some opposition to the marriage on the part of the parents, but they were afterwards reconciled and the two families lived on peaceable and happy terms. Four children blessed the marriage—the oldest a boy of twelve at the time of the tragedy and the youngest a girl of four Mrs Simms has had frequent periods of sickness for a number of years past, and had at last become a confirmed invalid, her mind becoming deranged also Some two years ago she conceived the idea that some great wrong had been done her, and clung to it with the pertinacity of insanity, About a year ago she attempted to destroy herself by drowning, and was taken from the river with life almost extinct Since that time, however, her mind has seemed most healthful, and her friends had hoped that she had recovered from this morbid condition of mind, the more so when, on returning from a recent visit to Oakland county, she seemed greatly invigorated both in mind and body But, alas! the frenzy of insanity only slumbered and burst forth with increased fury, and resulted in the commission of a deed, in contemplation of which humanity shrinks back appalled

A letter was found in her dress pocket, written that morning, and addressed to her husband. Our informant did not hear it read, but understood that it dictated as to the disposal of her body, counseled her husband in some matters, and requested that he be kind to her parents, who are aged people, living only a short distance from the scene of this truly shocking occurrence Whether any reason was assigned for the deed remains to be learned We would say, however, in this connection, that a gentleman and relative of the deceased, who, with his wife, had often visited the family, informed us that there never was a sign or whisper, to his knowledge, of anything like marital infelicity on the part of either,

Since penning the above, we learn that the girl has died It is thought the Kalamazoo tragedy, with which our readers are more or less familiar, had much to do towards instigating Mrs Simms to the bloody deed she had done, as, since reading the letters of Mrs Richards she has often been heard to say that she was tired of life and would like to die, but for her children

The following is the letter which was found in the pocket of Mrs Simms' dress after her death

ROBERT—When this meets your gaze you will be a childless widower My fate is sealed, my doom is inevitable. I take the children that they may never follow in the footsteps of their mother, and that they may escape her sad fate I can but trust that they are innocent as yet in the sight of God 'Tis the anguish of despair, the gloom of remorse, that drives me to this Oh my father, I was not to be a dutiful child I have not been a faithful wife and mother. To the church I have proved an unworthy member, and to God an unprofitable servant Let not the church suffer by this act of mine. But to you I say hold fast your confidence with unswerving faith Unworthy as I was a place in your midst, I indulged a hope until I allowed my faith to waver, then Satan tempted me until he ensnared me Oh! Lucy, Julia, Ophia, Elida, be true to your trust Let my untimely fate be a warning to you all Oh! strive above all things to make your homes happy, to live for the good of others And, Robert, would to God I could undo the past, but that is irretrievable I perjured my soul at the altar, and have but lived a lie —Think you not there is no faith in woman, choose you another, remembering that had you manifested the same spirit for the past few years that you have for the past few months, I should have been a different woman Be kind to my father and mother, oh, be kind to them I know not but this will lay them in yonder churchyard Oh! be kind, be kind, be kind, smooth their dying pillow as I ought. I beseech you be kind to them, for this is no fault of theirs. Bury us not in the churchyard, but beneath the shade of yonder cherry. Tell Elder Bassett to preach for the benefit of the living, if you deem me worthy of such respect, from the text, "The way of the transgressor is hard."

My father and mother farewell, fare you well There is no cure for despair. The money that has cost you a life of incessant toil is to me but a curse

REVOLUTIONIZING GOLD —The New York Tribune of Oct. 12th has the following:

We noted yesterday the startling dispatch from the Philadelphia Ledger, in reference to the President's overtures to revolution, not without a reserve of doubt as to its truth The Ledger still asserts that its report is authentic and indubitable, but has not given its authority Johnson and Stanberry positively declare the dispatch to be absolutely false, and this conclusion must be accepted. The effect of the forgery upon the gold market was more decided than that of any news received since the end of the war. Gold, which opened at 151, rose, on the announcement that the President had addressed these revolutionary questions to the Attorney General, to 153¾, and on the denial of its truth fell suddenly to 150¾ closing at 151¼ —This fact has given reason for the suspicion that the telegram was manufactured in the interest of gold speculators, and it is currently reported, as at least a confirmation that a stockholder in the Ledger has recently been a large buyer of gold at a much less price Fortunes have been made upon the strength of this falsehood, but its prompt exposure prevents any permanent rise in gold. We hope the perpetrator of the forgery will be ferreted out and punished as he deserves to be, and the Ledger owes the public a full explanation of the manner in which it obtained its pretended information

Of the Philadelphia journals the Ledger has hitherto been one of the least sensational, a fact which obtained for the dispatch much of its credibility. But it is a melancholy truth, that the chief plausibility of the report was derived from the course of the President. He has done so much in contravention of the laws Congress has established, and has so frequently denounced Congress as a revolutionary and unconstitutional body, that the rumor of his intention to carry his words into action seemed scarcely an improbability The treason of the North and the hanging of Thad Stevens have been so long the burden of Johnson's speeches that the public were prepared for any madness. But the elections, in teaching him the spirit of the people, have, we hope, caught him the dignity of prudence.

The New York Evening Post says:

One good result, however, this fraud will have The declaration made by the President to the correspondent of the Tribune, who inquired of him about the Ledger's report, will relieve the fears of many timid persons, who have dreaded a collision between Johnson and Congress.

"The President stated to your correspondent that the story is a falsehood, and any reports that may be in circulation that he questions the constitutionality of Congress are base fabrications, intended to affect the gold or stock market and are wicked and absurd"

So reports the Washington correspondent of the New York Tribune, and this is a sufficient answer to all who feared that the President intended to recognize another Congress. We print elsewhere a dispatch from the Secretary of the Treasury to the Collector of this port, which officially denies the truth of the Ledger's report.

How about those speeches, Mr President, where you said Congress was an unconstitutional body?

NEW ENGLAND DYING OUT —About three-fourths of all the children born in Boston during 1865 were of parents born in a foreign land, therefore, argues one of the papers, "the Yankee stock will in time die out in New England" We think by that time Yankee stock will have peopled, will be the predominant stock of this continent, from the St. Lawrence to the Gulf, and from the Atlantic to the Pacific shore, because Yankee intelligence knows how to rear children to maturity, while foreign ignorance and filth kills them almost as soon as born for out of every hundred children dying, eighty eight are of foreign parentage, and this has been the rate for the last five years in New York city, where the native population is forty nine per cent, and the foreign fifty one, or nearly equal, and it is presumed that the same proportions hold good in all our large cities Hence, if sixty two per cent, of all the children born in Boston are of foreign parents, and eighty eight per cent. die, it is very easy to see they might as well not have been born at all, and a great deal "mightier," as far as the question of the foreign outstripping the Yankee stock is concerned. The fact is, neither Yankee men, nor Yankee principles, nor Yankee thrift, will ever die out while this planet is inhabited, and if it is ever depopulated by a conflagration, the last survivor of a smoldering world will be Jonathan, at the death, singly and alone, resolutely trying to put out the fire, if by famine, the last loaf of bread will be owned by a Yankee —Hall's Journal of Health

CUSTOMS RECEIPTS AT THE PRINCIPAL PORTS —The receipts from customs at the principal ports of the United States in the week ending September 30, 1866, were as follows Boston, $331 886, New York, $2 372 405 Philadelphia, $257,907, Baltimore, $31,638 New Orleans, from September 10 to 22, $149,136.

IMPEACHMENT —In a late speech at Cincinnati Gen Butler mentioned six specifications on which he said the President should be impeached, as follows Seeking to overthrow the Government of the United States, Corruptly using the power of appointment declaring peace without the consent of Congress, corruptly using the pardoning power, failing to enforce the Civil Rights Bill, complicity in the New Orleans riot

Alluding to the effect of the proposed impeachment, Gen Butler said

We are told that this will bring on a struggle Very well I am convinced of one of two things Either that the struggle, if it shall come at all, must come in this way or it will be precipitated upon us in the next Presidential election when we come to inaugurate our President—when the States still in rebellion, if they shall not have accepted the terms of Congress to come back, will endeavor by aid of their sympathizers North to foist upon the Northern States a President of their choice, and in such a case it might not be so clear where exactly was the legal right If I am correct in my judgment of the law of impeachment and the form of trial, we shall have the right and forms of law If rights are clear, and if trouble must come which God forbid, let it come in March, 1867, not in March, 1869 Let us have this thing done with This country has been in turmoil and trouble and difficulty and commotion long enough from traitors and their sympathizers [Great applause] Let us settle this question now, at once and forever

TROUBLE THREATENING IN GREAT BRITAIN —The London Weekly Dispatch, of a late date has the following.

There is an upheaving groundswell of society at this moment, perilous to the privileges of rent consumers Recruits refuse to enter the army We cannot man our navy or mercantile marine Emigration is the prompt remedy for the least contraction in wages In Australia and New Zealand it was fast discovered that the only way to keep the population in their places was to make them owners of the soil. Cheap land and ready access to it is the whole secret of the settlement of the Western States If we do not abolish primogeniture, primogeniture will abolish its authors If we would keep our people in the country we must give them the country The real patriotism of America, the ballast that steadies the vessel of state, is to be found in the freeholders of the Western States. A war of classes is looming in the near future Let them call to their side—it will be done too soon—a peasant proprietary attached to the soil by owning it, and to law which forms the security to their rights of property. We again urge the sale of Crown lands, the reclamation and disposal of our wastes, the settlement of the people of Ireland upon the land of Ireland. We are treading on the hot cinders of a social crater Our system is dangerous, solitarily artificial No country in the world has so few owners of its soil Not an hour is to be lost in setting our houses in order.

IMPECUNIOUS AND INDEPENDENT —A letter was recently addressed to the Postmaster at Wellsborough, Pennsylvania, by the Chairman of the State Central Committee, informing him that he had been assessed forty five dollars to defray the expenses of the campaign The answer was somewhat independent, it concluded as follows

"I have no doubt that funds are greatly needed' by the N. U S C Committee; if for their private pockets, they will need all they can get, and if needed for buying up the people of this Commonwealth to support 'My Policy,' they will need more than they can get, even if every postmaster should be assessed his entire salary for ten years

"But postmasters are not all verdant, even if many of them do live in the country Not long ago, a fellow of your class wrote me that he would send me a prize ticket for ten thousand dollars, if I would only tell all my neighbors that I had drawn in his lottery, and send him just ten dollars to pay for the ticket in advance! You may think it strange, but it is a fact that I didn't do it! Very likely you can find some hungry fellow about here, who will send you the forty five dollars you want, and tell all his neighbors what a nice 'policy' it is that produces massacres of Unionists in the South, if you will only promise him this little Postoffice for a prize (eight-hundred or a thousand dollars a year for doing fifteen hundred dollars worth), but you must excuse yours, respectfully,"

"HUGH YOUNG."

SUNSET COX —The New York News snubs S. S Cox, late member of Congress from Ohio. The Buckeye abroad is advised to return to his own State, if he has Congressional aspirations to gratify. Here is its cool way of disposing of him

Cox, formerly of Ohio, but a recent acquisition to the population of this city, is seeking to represent a New York constituency by asserting that the President desires his election If this were so, it would be an excellent reason for his remaining at home, for however desirous people may be to sustain the President's policy, Federal dictation is something to which independent citizens do not choose to submit. The committal of the President, however, is totally unjustifiable, and has no shadow of foundation in fact. Having got thoroughly played out in Ohio, where he and birds of the same feather sank their party deeper than ever plummet sounded, and where radical majorities increase with every election, until the vote is the next thing to unanimous, his modesty in coming along to take charge of this city is the most refreshing specimen of the article on record.

A VISIT TO JEFFERSON DAVIS —A reconstructed Jenkins, whose name is John D. Kelley, has visited the person whom he considered "the ablest and best man in America," now confined at Fortress Monroe, and contributed an account of his experience to a Petersburg paper The following will do for a specimen. "At this time we saw a slender, shadowy, tottering form approach the door Something in my heart told me it was Mr Davis. Strange, mystic human heart, with its divinations and prophecies! Bible of the truel Infallible God-word to every human soul that has ever been magnetized with love! I had known this man at a time when his word swayed an empire composed of as noble men and as glorious God gifted women as has ever appeared in the tide of time. * * * And now he is before me a prisoner—good God! How changed! The last time I saw him his brow seemed decked, not only with a crown of intelligent glory, but with a sort of 'primus inter pares'—halo of all the kingly chivalries of the past ages Now he was bent, broken, reeling But oh! that voice, its timbre, cadence, tone!"

SIS-KI YOU.—The Humboldt Times says

"The following extract from the dictionary of the Chinook Jargon, by Geo Gibbs, has been handed us by a friend:

'Sis ki you, Cree (Anderson)—A bob-tailed horse.' This name, ludicrous enough, has been bestowed on the range of mountains separating Oregon and California, and also on a county in the latter State. The origin of this designation, as related to me by Mr. Anderson was as follows Mr Archibald R McLeod, a Chief Factor of the Hudson's Bay Company, in the year 1828, while crossing the mountains with a pack train, was overtaken by a snow storm, in which he lost most of his animals, including a noted bob tailed race horse His Canadian followers, in compliment to their chief, or 'bourgeois' named the place the Pass of Siskiyou—an appellation subsequently adopted as the veritable Indian name of the locality, and thence extended to the whole range and the adjoining district."

HARD TIMES —The Richmond (Va) Times says "It is useless to deny the fact that in Richmond, as in other Southern cities, the monetary pressure is greater now than it was in September, 1865 There are a multitude of banks in our midst, and palatial structures have arisen upon the ruins of the burnt district, but the indications of a prosperous fall business are not as encouraging as was anticipated The complaint of the scarcity of money in all the departments of trade, commerce and labor, is louder than it was a few weeks after the fall of Richmond The tobacco crop is said to be an average one but in consequence of protracted droughts and imperfect cultivation, the corn crop of the State, except in certain portions of the valley is much smaller than was anticipated. In this city rents have fallen, in many instances a hundred per cent, since 1865, and, when real estate is sold with reserve, very great bargains are obtained to the lucky few who have money to invest"

HE WILL RESIGN—The Philadelphia Ledger's Washington correspondent writes

"There is authority for stating that Mr Seward will soon retire from public life from a desire to obtain that repose and recreation which his medical advisers inform him are absolutely indispensable to the prolongation of his life The Secretary thus advises some of his most intimate personal and political friends here, and there is no doubt but that as soon as he recovers from his present indisposition he will lose no time in carrying his resolution into effect With this knowledge, the question as to who is to succeed him in the Cabinet at so interesting a conjuncture must soon become one of absorbing interest"

POLITICAL DEMORALIZATION IN GREAT BRITAIN —The London Weekly Times thus discourses of political corruptions

The process of electoral demoralization is easily traced in England The great aristocratic land owners began it They reduced their tenantry to a servile condition, in which they were only machines for expressing their masters will They bought and sold estates with electoral serfs upon them paying or charging for the latter in the same way, though at higher rates than they bought and sold their cows and pigs As the middle class rivaled the aristocracy in wealth it competed in this branch of corruption and for a long period Ministers—like Walpole—found the art of managing the House of Commons to consist in buying the members just as they bought their seats The great Whig revolution of 1688 was saved by this means The country was not stirred sufficient depths by political feelings of an honorable character and the House of Brunswick might not have retained the throne if the venality of the two branches of the Legislature had not been thus turned to account

Within a few years cock fighting was so effectively patronized by the aristocracy that the laws against it were powerless, and the same arbiters of public morals and truth decided, in harmonious conjunction with the blackguards of lower degree that prize-fighting should in the same manner be maintained in equal despite of law The cock fighting has departed, and the prize fighting is going fast, and in the same manner the practice of bribing at elections may have to depart. Aristocracy and the rich country gentlemen gave up the cock fighting when the public determined that the law should be enforced There was nothing genteel in the vulgar penalties attached to the offence, and within six months of a baronet, a lord or a millionaire being set to pick oakum in prison gard, for bribing the electors of Bottonborne the practice will be voted decidedly low Artificial opinions in favor of particular crimes or vices may be successfully assailed by punishment not violent, but of the right kind, and the law when honest, will effectually degrade those who try to degrade the people by making elections corrupt.

THE KENTUCKY REGULATORS AND THE FREEDMEN —Brevet Maj. Gen Jeff C Davis, Assistant Commissioner of the Freedmen's Bureau in the State of Kentucky, in his report to the Commissioner dated October 8th, gives an account of the outrage committed by a lawless organization lately sprung into existence in that State known by the name of "Regulators" He states that there were 86 cases of violence towards the colored population during the month of August, for which only eight arrests were made These outrages were generally robbing and whipping negroes, and were usually perpetrated at night by white men in disguise and styling themselves "Regulators." The small number arrested is owing to two causes—first the inability of the sufferers to identify the name, under oath the persons who commit the crime; and second, the want of cavalry troops to make arrests—the "Regulators" being generally mounted and well armed In none of these cases has there been any action reported of the State civil authorities arresting and punishing the offenders Of the eight men arrested one was released on account of informality of evidence and on a writ of habeas corpus before being delivered to the General's headquarters, and were turned over to the United States Marshal for trial before the United States Circuit Court for this district In the latter part of August last reliable information was received at the office of the Chief Superintendent of the Bureau that over 100 negroes were forced by the "Regulators" to leave their homes in Gallatin county and fly to Indiana for safety Five of the Gallatin county "Regulators" have been identified and arrested, and the same action will be taken with the rest as soon as proper evidence of identity can be procured.

SOUTHERN BLOCKADE RUNNERS —The London Mercantile Gazette publishes some remarkable statistics relating to the blockade-running trade which was carried on during the war Nassau in the Bahamas, was the chief port whence the trade was carried on, and in consequence the imports at that place rose from £234,029 in 1860 to £5,347,112 in 1864, and the exports from £157 350 to £4,673 398, an increase that must be without parallel in the history of commerce Cotton was the chief staple of the trade, and figures for nearly £4,000,000 in both the imports and exports

During the war 161 ships connected with the blockade running trade entered Nassau, 102 of these made successful voyages. The Syren made 18 voyages, but by far the greater number (74) made not more than two voyages As the blockade continued and the distress of the South increased, the value of the cargoes became enhanced Owing to the greater vigilance of the Federal cruisers, the expense of these expeditions was much increased so that toward the end of the war the captain of a blockade-runner would be paid £1,000 for his voyage with the right to carry ten bales of cotton on his own account.

The Indians of the Tonawanda (N, Y) Reservation initiated their annual agricultural fair, by the 'green corn festival" one of the pagan rites peculiar to the aborigines, which is thus described by an eye-witness "When we reached the dance-house of the tribe, but few of the actors had arrived Three large iron kettles of soup, made of green corn and fresh pork were smoking in the middle of the floor In brief, the performances open with a congratulatory speech from the priest, addressed to the Great Spirit, in which praise and thanksgiving mingle Then follow their native dances, and when these are gone through with the soup is distributed, being deposited with dippers into tin pails The party then disperse, taking the soup with them to be eaten at their homes" Col Ely S. Parker, a member of Gen eral Grant's staff, who is the Grand Sachem of the tribes, delivered an oration in the Indian tongue on the opening of the agricultural exhibition.

NEW NAME —The Humboldt Times gets off this:

"When one asks a friend to imbibe, these days, his invitation is not 'Will you try something?' but is, 'Let's swing round the circle' This is the favorite expression of A. J just before he is carried to his bed"
